

INAUGURAL PLANS BEGIN AT STATION

First Steps Taken to Prepare for Huge Crowd Expected
Here Next Month.

First steps were taken today at Union Station to prepare for the crowd expected to swamp Washington for inauguration. At the Pennsylvania freight yards preparations were begun at the same time.

Plans are also being made for the emergency remodeling of the station. This is a rather comprehensive job. It includes the installation of extra telephone booths, parcel racks, gateways and the like. The force of men to handle the million-and-one wants of an inaugural crowd has been increased, too.

Spirit in the Air.
From the top floor, where the offices are, down to the subcellar of the great terminal building, the inaugural spirit is in the air. It's somewhat like Christmas, only worse.

As you enter the station from the plaza, there's a band, a newsmen, a bandy in already figuring on how many extra copies of papers he must order.

Out in front, the street car inspectors have called for assistance in directing the thousands of strangers to various points in the city.

The drug stores are getting ready for a spring drive on their stocks. They're also loading up with extra clerks.

The information man is to have seven assistants for each "track."

The newsmen folks, in the course, are lining up their reserves also.

Extra Force of Police.
There is the extra force of policemen. If you'll look on the collars of these men, you won't find, invariably, the initials "W. T." which mean "Washington Terminal." You'll probably find "P. R. R." or "B. & O.," which means that these two big trunk lines have drafted police reserves from all over their systems for emergency use.

An emergency checking room has been built at the east end of the concourse, near the President's room. It's rather difficult to walk through the big station in quest of inaugural data without being forced to call on the station officials. Everybody you talk to says "see Mr. Wilson." He's the superintendent. So Mr. Wilson talked awhile.

Time Saving the Keynote.

"Time saving," he said, "That's the keynote. Everything's done to save time. We put the telephones where they'll save the most time. We check parcels where we save time. Then we add extra help to all departments—that saves time. When you save time in handling a crowd, you move the crowd quicker. That means less work. It's mostly science and arithmetic—with a little teamwork and judgment."

"We're doubling the forces of switchmen, conductors, yardmen, firemen, and engineers of all the station gangs. We push up the 'subs' and sign 'em up on regular time. We're bringing in brakemen from Potomac yards. They'll help a lot. We're sticking in extra telephones to cut out switchboard delay."

"Then there's the coal problem. We've got to have extra coal, of course. We're increasing the force of telegraphers—getting them down from Northern cities for the big day. We've got just half the time to give individual passengers that we had before—maybe less than that. We've got to move quick. It's all doped out ahead of time and we'll simply run according to schedule."

CHAMP CLARK TO SPEAK.

TehiMasour Society of Washington will hold a buffet supper and dance at Rauscher's, Tuesday evening. Among the speakers on the program are: Champ Clark, Speaker of the House; A. M. Dockery, Third Assistant Postmaster General; and Congressman Phillip P. Campbell of Kansas. The banquet committee is headed by James T. Lloyd, assisted by Thomas L. Rubey, Joseph J. Russell, W. N. Holmes, Lee T. Robinson, Hubert Newsum, Otis W. Wyatt, Otis J. Rogers, Horace J. Phelps, W. C. Deane, and William C. Stierlin.

TO TELL OF POLAND.

"Six Weeks in Devastated Poland" will be the subject of an illustrated lecture by Frederick C. Walcott at Memorial Continental Hall, Seventeenth and D streets northwest, Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock, under the auspices of the District of Columbia Red Cross Society. Mr. Walcott spent about two months in Poland, and will tell of his personal experiences while in that country.

M. J. Shields, of the American Red Cross field service, will lecture at the Memorial Continental Hall at 8 o'clock, March 21, on "Accidents, Prevention, and First Aid."

BOY VIOLINIST PLEAS.

Harry Waller, boy violinist, was repeatedly applauded at a concert given by the Washington College of Music Orchestra in New Masonic Temple yesterday afternoon. The proceeds were devoted to the purchase of an instrument for the young musician. The orchestra is an amateur organization composed of young students of the college.
